

Give a Gift to SFAC in Your Will

We're so grateful you're thinking about leaving a gift in your will to SFAC. Gifts in wills are a generous source of voluntary income and we simply couldn't continue to help vulnerable children without your support.

Big or small, every gift makes a difference!

For a vulnerable child it's the difference between....

- thriving instead of just surviving
- belonging rather than existing
- identity, not anonymity
- being a name not a number
- being cared for by a safe family instead of in an institution
- being seen as the unique individual they are rather than just part of a crowd

These transformations can only happen with your help.

Gifts in wills help us to educate, equip and empower adults involved in the care and protection of children all over the world to ensure vulnerable children everywhere receive the highest quality of care.

From governments and judiciaries who make the decisions, to communities who provide care far beyond their own families. From charities working in crisis prevention to young social workers learning the ropes. From those working in children's homes, to organisations creating new services to prevent children being separated from their families.

Your gift enables us to work hand-in-hand so children everywhere can be and feel safe, have somewhere to belong and the best chance to thrive.

If you have any further questions about our work please don't hesitate to get in touch on info@sfac.org.uk.

If you decide you'd like to leave SFAC a gift in your will, thank you - it means the world to us and all those we support. You'll find all the information on what you need to do next over the page.

Leaving a gift to SFAC in your will can be done in just a few simple steps*

(If you already have a will you can jump straight to Step 5!)

1. Think about everything you own and its value - now get it all written down.

- Property
- Savings & Pensions
- Insurance policies
- Jewellery & Collections

2. Think about your nearest and dearest and the causes or organisations that you want to provide for. You may wish to leave a set amount of money, or a percentage of the value of all your possessions or a valuable item you want to gift. Any gifts that you leave to charity in your will are exempt from Inheritance Tax and, accordingly, they can reduce the amount of Inheritance Tax due on your estate.

3. Think about who you want to administer your estate and, if you have children under 18, you will want to appoint guardians for their care if the need arises.

4. Finally, it's time to choose someone to help you write your will. We recommend a solicitor or legal professional to make sure it's all done properly. You can find a solicitor through the Law Society if you haven't already chosen one.

5. If SFAC is your chosen charity (thank you!), your solicitor will need to know what you have decided to give and the following details:

SFAC - Charitable Incorporated Organisation 1186903
C/O Bridge Community Church
Rider Street
Leeds LS9 7BQ

* SFAC is not responsible or liable for the advice given in this pack and we always recommend you seek qualified, independent legal and financial advice when considering your will.

SFAC (Strengthening Families And Children)
is a UK Charitable Incorporated Organisation (CIO)
Registered Charity: 1186903
www.sfac.org.uk